Advancing behavioral health with the greatest of care.

From clinical research to caring for the most diverse patient population, leadership and innovation are hallmarks of Yale New Haven Psychiatric Hospital. In affiliation with Yale School of Medicine's Department of Psychiatry, we pioneered using ketamine infusions for treatment-resistant psychiatric disorders. Our clinical team first documented the association between a prior psychiatric diagnosis with COVID-19-related inpatient mortality and supported colleagues worldwide to build that knowledge base. Today, we are at the forefront of exploring psychedelic therapeutics for major depressive disorder and severe anxiety. With every step, we stay focused on our goal to deliver the continuum of services to meet every patient's unique need—with the greatest of care.

The Door Switch™ is an over-the-door ligature-resistant product for Behavioral Healthcare Facilities.

The Door Switch™ provides a distinctive alert solution to enhance in-room resident safety at a critical time. During private time, though the hallway and restroom doors provide privacy, they can also pose a threat for those who may be considering self-harming activities.

Until now, the only solution for this threat has been the removal of the door or other invasive means that often diminish both dignity and respect. The Door Switch™ changes this problematic situation by helping to mitigate the risk that can go hand-in-hand with privacy. It alerts the staff immediately, visually and audibly, if a resident's door is being used as an over-the-door ligature point. It also creates a time-stamped audit trail event log.

A patented over-the-door ligature-resistant product. US Patent N0. RE42,991 and RE44,039.

Workers in the healthcare setting are particularly vulnerable to workplace violence. Unfortunately, the number of attacks and threats of violence against doctors and nurses is on the rise. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, healthcare workers are five times more likely to be injured by workplace violence than other workers. Another survey by the Massachusetts Nurse's Association revealed that 75% of nurses said they have feared or anticipated violent or abusive events in the past two years. Workplace violence is a serious threat to the physical and mental health of your staff. When your people feel vulnerable at work, it's bad for them, your patients, and your bottom line. Together, we design for good. Setting new design standards, our doors and hardware are humanizing safety in challenging behavioral health environments. One example is our soft suicide prevention door for inpatient bathrooms that removes all-known ligature points. The door detaches at just 14 pounds and can only be reattached by staff - disrupting patients' ligature learning process and informing staff when a suicide attempt has occurred. We'd love to welcome you to our booth to demo our bathroom door and discuss how the combination of our products and your passion can deliver positive change for patients. Videra Health

The current healthcare system is episodic and reactive, leading to poor and inconsistent patient care. The cost of getting treatment wrong is high and the capacity for getting it right is low. Patients are essentially on their own when they leave a provider's office. Videra Health closes this gap by automating continuous care between provider visits. We do this with asynchronous video/audio programs, allowing for better decision making and enhanced patient tracking. Patients feel truly cared for while health systems gather more data and expend less resources following-up between visits and after discharge. Reach out to contact@viderahealth.com for additional information and to engage with our team.
